

NA-KD's comments on Fair Action's report

"Time to deliver - a report on transparency among Swedish online fashion brands"

NA-KD is a strong believer of transparency and is happy to be one of the most transparent companies in the study. Our full list of tier one suppliers was published on our website earlier this spring and will be updated at least twice a year.

We are proud to be one of the first companies to make it possible for our customers to browse a NA-KD product on our website and see in what factory it has been produced.

At NA-KD we have set a target to reach full supply chain transparency for 80% of our production by 2025. To enable us to reach this, we have partnered with Trustrace, which will allow us to link and trace our products and materials throughout our supply chain all the way to raw materials. Furthermore, we are increasing our inhouse resources, dedicating ourselves to improving supply chain traceability and transparency.

If you want to know more about NA-KD's sustainability work, you are welcome to read on our website, or in our latest Sustainability Report for 2020.
